Dear Joan:

T. I. TAGAMI
[REDACTED] St.
Vancouver, BC [REDACTED]

It was nice talking to you on the phone, as it has been quite a while. The above names are the ones that were mis-spelled. I have enclosed the Nikkei Image of February 2002, that has the first part of my experiences of being uprooted in April 21, 1942. I have have written several other stories about my experiences, so I will send you copies as they get published. It has been a wet winter and I was unable to go outside too often, so I made up an album, which starts at Genoa Bay where I grew up and photos of Paldi, there were so many old sizes so I used the little black corners to mount the photos and labeled each photo, with name, location, and year etc. I made up an album with 45 pages containing about 250 photos, I'm sure you will be interested to see it when you come to Vancouver. It goes until 1961, the later ones I can put in 4"x6" photo albums. Lot of work but worth while to leave it for my granddaughter.

Sincerely
Tom I Tagami
