Dear Sir:

I have seen Cst. Baltej Singh Dhillon in my courtroom on a few occasions since he began his service with the R.C.M.P. in Quesnel a few years ago. I want you to know that I believe him to be the most impressive younger member I have ever encountered. His exceptional abilities are obvious at every turn.

I have considered writing this letter previously. I am motivated to do it now because I have again been privileged to observe Cst. Dhillon's performance in a very difficult situation. He was instrumental in bringing about what I hope will be a lasting truce between two good but feuding families in the Quesnel East Indian community. This could not have been an easy task. He spoke to the matter in court in Quesnel on June 1 and did so with great diplomacy.

I believe that Cst. Dhillon is well on his way to a significant career in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. I am sure you know that already.

Yours truly,

C. C. Barnett
