

Copy.

8th July, 1914.

On Powell St. about 3 O'clock on 8th July 1914, conversation took place between H. Rahim, Sohan Lal & Mohamed Akbar.

M. Akbar. What you think about Mr. Reid & Hopkinson?

Sohan Lal. Both of these persons are great robbers. All our hopes and works we intend to do are ruined.

Rahim. It is a shame for us, there are so many Hindoos here. If two or three will die for them it will not be a bad thing to do.

M. Akbar. We ought to talk this matter over in the committee, and I will get oneman ready for this work; but that man is too greedy.

Rahim. Then we can pay him two or three thousand dollars by collections. You can get that man ready.

M. Akbar. Very well, I will try for this.

Sohan Lal. I think I will try to get on man ready. We ought to tell about this in Committee.

Rahim. Be careful, don't let anyone hear about it.

M. Akbar. I think we ought to speak to Bhag Singh first privately, and then discuss in Committee.

Rahim. What you think about this, Sohan Lal?

Sohan Lal. As you say.

Rahim. We will see Monday, and also arrange for prize on Monday.

Sohan Lal. Don't you think Mammed Akbar Shah will do this work.

Rahim. No, he can't, but we will get some roge whiteman from Socialist Party. I will see and let you know if I can get some.

M. Akbar. Well I am going. See you Monday.

Bande Mataram.