

FIVE ARE ENTOMBED BY BIG ROCKSLIDE; RESCUERS IN DANGER

After Great Difficulties Two Miners Are Taken from Beneath Tons of Debris in Colorado Mine.

PRACTICALLY ABANDON HOPE FOR THE OTHERS

Six-Foot Slide Threatens to Carry Hard-Working Rescue Gangs to Depths Below.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Dec. 1.—Five miners were entombed today by a cave-in which extended from the fourth level to the thirteenth level of the Golden Cycle mine. One of the five was rescued and one is known to be alive and uninjured in the Christmas mine. The fate of the remaining three in the Golden Cycle arouses great concern.

Buried Under Debris.

Thomas Spindel, who was rescued at 8 o'clock tonight unharmed from the Golden Cycle, remained in the mine to aid in the rescue work. He declares three of the miners were working behind him, a distance of at least sixty feet and he estimates that the fall of rock on the eighth level, where he and they were, extended for more than sixty feet behind the room in which he was trapped.

No response is had to tappings of rescue crews upon pipes which extend through the eighth level of the Golden Cycle, where the entombed men are supposed to be.

Rescuers Endangered.

The cave-in was caused by a gigantic rock slide from the fourth level and was not precipitated by an explosion.

At midnight rescue work had proceeded but little and with ever increasing danger to the rescue crews who were constantly threatened by the six-foot slide which would continue to slip downward into the lower levels. Then hope for saving three entombed miners — Woods, Kevany and Sorenson — practically was abandoned. It was thought that the sliding rock had crushed them and carried them far beyond the point where they were working at the time of the accident.

It is believed the workings in other mines adjacent have been imperilled and further slides are expected.

After nine hours of work, rescuers succeeded in reaching Frank Cabris, whom they brought to the surface of Christmas mine unharmed.

Decision Handed Down by Chief Justice Hunter Cause of Perplexity in Law-making Circles.

APPEAL POSSIBILITIES SAID TO BE REMOTE

Meanwhile Natives of India Are Grown Restive and Serious Trouble May Result.

In the phrase of the kitchen, "the fat is in the fire," over the decision handed down by Chief Justice Hunter of the supreme court of British Columbia, affecting the Hindu immigration problem. The blaze-up is pretty fierce, and the smoke begins to look as murky as that at a Hindu funeral. Leading men in all directions are exercised about the undoubtedly difficult situation caused. Premier McBride is amongst the number, and he has sounded again the watchword that British Columbia's objection to the Hindu are not based on grounds of racial animosity, but purely on social and economic grounds. Sir Richard thinks the trouble will occupy the courts for a long time yet.

Another prominent man who is taking an interest in the question is Commissioner General A. Caminetti, head of the United States immigration service. He is said to be in conference with Sir Richard McBride on this matter. The matter of alien immigration has been a vexed question for some time on the frontier between British Columbia and the United States, and this new aspect of it may intensify the troubles with which all the officials on both sides of the border have been wrestling.

To Prepare Memorandum.

At Ottawa the echo of the ruling handed down by Chief Justice Hunter has been heard loudly. Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, has

FRENCH GOVERNMENT SUCCEED IN PASSING LOAN AUTHORIZATION

(Sun's Leased A. P. Wire.)

PARIS, Dec. 1.—The government was victorious by a narrow margin today in its first great trial of strength with the opposition in the chamber of deputies on the question of the new loan of $260,000,000 to cover the budget deficit. The loan was approved by a vote of 291 to 290.

On November 25 Premier Barthou, in refusing to accept the procedure suggested by the opposition, made the loan a question of confidence.

Members of the opposition, after the vote today, expressed themselves as greatly encouraged by the smallness of the government majority and said they would return to the attack with redoubled energy tomorrow on the question whether the new issue shall be subject to taxation or immune, like the existing rentes.

The general opinion, however, is that the ministry will win again by a small majority.

ern of the state, with 2,000 federal troops, had left on foot for Ojinaga, on the United States border near Maria, Tex., that Generals Jose Ynez Salazar and Pascual Orozco, with more than 1,000 federals, had retreated to the mountains west of the city, and that hundreds of civilians, including women and children, who were on the verge of starvation, had started out to walk to the United States border.

Walking to Border.

Besides being the capital of the state, Chihuahua city, with a population normally of 35,000, is the metropolis of Northern Mexico. Neither in the Madero revolution nor in the present uprising has Chihuahua been taken from the federals. Its garrison and the commanding position for sharpshooters and machine guns, afforded by the cathedral and public buildings, heretofore had presented a formidable barrier to invaders.

Conditions in the city were said to be such that life there was no longer endurable. The Spanish viaduct, which conveyed water from the mountains, was reported to have been destroyed and the food supply exhausted.

ROYAL FAMILY VISITS QUEEN ALEXANDRA ON SIXTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY

(Sun's Leased W. A. P. Wire.)

LONDON, Dec. 1.—The sixty-ninth birthday of Queen Alexandra, while officially observed throughout the United Kingdom and Ireland (where the recognition was spontaneous, the people remembering her husband's friendship to Ireland) and the rest of the empire, took on a more personal aspect when it was "kept" at Sandringham, the home to which the Danish princess was taken in 1863 and which was her home until the ascension of King Edward to the throne and which will always be the home in the family sense.

There was a family reunion at which the King and Queen and the children of the royal family were present. It is said on the word of one who was present, that the only time when the Queen-mother broke down was when she, in the course of a review of the family album (which is an event on every similar occasion at Sandringham) she saw the picture of her first born, Albert Victor. Then she cried. Otherwise she went through the ordeal well and pleased the children of the reigning family by showing them photographs and other souvenirs of their father at various ages.

CONFERENCE ON DUTY.

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—In response to representations made to the British ambassador at Washington in regard to the possibility of an embargo being imposed on Canadian potatoes, the department of agriculture has been apprised that the United States department of agriculture is contemplating the holding of a conference December 18. An opportunity will be given at that conference for Canadian interests to be represented. Pending the conference there will be no extension of quarantine, and, therefore, no embargo on Canadian potatoes.

resents the British Columbia government, had said that he differed from both the Dominion and other provincial counsel. Under the circumstances it would not be fair to have the final reply rest solely with the Dominion counsel.

"You will all have a chance. Only please do not all say the same things," said the chairman amidst general laughter. Mr. Drayton then suggested that the railways might be heard first.

"We would rather hear the diverse views of all these gentlemen," remarked Mr. Chrysler. The order of the speaking was then arranged as before stated and the sitting was adjourned until Thursday morning.

The morning and afternoon sittings were taken up with a further examination of Mr. J. P. Muller, the American rate expert, by Mr. Bicknell and other counsel.

Is Not Faulty.

Mr. Muller said that he did not admit, as a result of Mr. Chrysler's cross-examination of him, that his system of segregating freight and passenger expenses was in any essential degree faulty. He would admit that it was impossible to avoid a good many approximations. "I do not claim," continued the rate expert, "that it is possible to ascertain the specific cost of handling any specific commodity. There never will be a method of calculation that can be accurately related to any specific article or commodity unless approximations are used on the basis of past expense. How correct these calculations would be it would be impossible to accurately state."

When Mr. Muller was being examined as to his figures relating to the origin of tonnage on the various divisions, Mr. Cowan, counsel for the Alberta and Saskatchewan governments, and Mr. Pitblado, for the Winnipeg board of trade, raised the point that considerable tonnage originating in western divisions is again credited to both the Lake Superior and eastern divisions.

Crediting of Freight.

Their contention was that when a quantity of wheat, for instance, is brought to Fort William by the C. P. R. and transferred to another carrier for transportation to Port McNichol, it, on arrival at that port, is credited as forwarding freight to the eastern division.

Mr. Chrysler was disposed to think this was probably correct, but Mr. W. B. Lannigan, western traffic manager of the C. P. R. for western lines, was disposed to dispute it.

Mr. Moule, chief accountant of the C. P. R., who was appealed to, said that the shipments brought to Port McNichol by other carriers would undoubtedly be credited to the eastern division as forwarding tonnage. At Fort William it would also be credited to the Lake Superior division.

COUNCIL CANDIDATES ARE ALL NOMINATED IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES

(Sun's Leased W. A. P. Wire.)

REGINA, Dec. 1.—In Saskatchewan and Alberta today citizens nominated their executive heads and aids for the new year elections, which are to take place December 8. Many keen fights are in progress and many new steps in civic administration are being taken. The keen interest taken in public affairs is shown by the numerous nominations for comparatively few offices.

Though Calgary and Regina have re-elected their present mayors, in most of the other cities there is a contest. At Moose Jaw candidates are out for the mayoralty and twenty for the aldermanic seats. Calgary has twenty-three candidates for the council, Edmonton twelve, Saskatoon thirteen, while Medicine Hat has three aspirants to the mayoralty and twenty to the council.

Lethbridge tries out her new commission government and today's nominations showed six candidates for mayor, six for commissioner of public works and three for commissioner of public utilities. In the small towns and villages there are many candidates for few offices.

COLLINGWOOD RATEPAYERS.

A general meeting of the Collingwood ratepayers was held last evening with regard to electing a candidate for Ward One. Mr. W. Morris, manager of the Western Plate Glass Company, of Vancouver was endorsed as candidate. Other ratepayers endorsed Mr. Rutledge. Mr. Morris is president of the Collingwood Liberal Association.

VICTIM RUNS LENGTH OF CAR WHEN DEAD

Although Instantly Killed, Reflex Action Results in His Rushing Down Aisle.

(Sun's Leased A. P. Wire.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 1.—Horace E. Montague, travelling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, was shot and instantly killed by a holdup man in a Pullman car of the westbound Sunset Express a few miles out of Los Angeles this evening.

Boarding the train at Pomona, it is believed, the man robbed the passengers of the rear Pullman. As Montague stepped into the aisle of the car, the holdup man grabbed him by the overcoat lapel, with the order: "Throw up your hands."

Montague held a travelling bag in one hand. The other hand he raised as if to ward off a blow from the robber. The holdup man then shot him through the forehead.

Muscles still obedient to reflex action Montague ran the length of the Pullman with the bullet in his brain. At the other end he fell. A frightened negro porter started to run, and a shot whizzed by him.

Before he met Montague, the holdup man secured about $500 in cash and jewelry from the passengers and train crew.

As the train slowed down for Puente station the robber jumped and escaped.

DESIRES LAURIER TO GO STEP FARTHER IN CAMPAIGN ON PRICES

(Sun's Leased W. A. P. Wire.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—The Evening Free Press (Liberal) tonight expresses the hope that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will go farther in framing a policy for the opposition than he did at Hamilton, when he declared for the removal of duty on food. After approving this policy, the Free Press says:

"Not only is there no defense for the taxation of food in these times, when it is becoming increasingly more difficult for the people to obtain the necessities of life, but there is no unselfish defense for the taxation of machinery used in the production of food—farm machinery. The Canadian manufacturers of farming implements can and do compete against the world in many foreign countries. Why should they not be able to compete against the world in their home market?"

The second plank in the Free Press platform was the removal or material reduction of the duties on all machinery used in the production of food and the third was an increase in the British preference to 50 per cent. The particular benefit to be derived from a reduction in the duties against British manufacturers would be in textiles. Cheaper food and cheaper cloth would go a long way toward immediately relieving the problem of the high cost of living.

GROCERY STORE AFIRE.

Fire destroyed the roof of a small grocery store belonging to a man named Justason on Bodwell road, east of Main street, last night about 11 o'clock. The damage is placed at about $500.

of one, with the chauffeur occasionally. For the expectant mother an immediate gift of $1 has been sent in. It is certainly badly needed, and will be gratefully received. A few more baby things have come in since, which will help to supply all she needs for her layette, and a couple of rompers for the year-old girl will keep this little one neat and clean.

The name of another family has been added to our list, where, we are told, starvation was actually staring them in the face. It is terrible to think that any person could ever get to such an awful pass in a country of plenty and peace like ours. It is so often remarked that there is no poverty in evidence in our streets, as it is in the older countries. While we can thank God that such is the case, there is no question that there is quite enough of it within our borders to make us anxious.

The sooner our money contributions come in, the sooner we can arrange for its expenditure, and the more will we be able to relieve the pressure that Christmas shopping puts on the clerks in the stores. Thus we shall accomplish a two-fold purpose, and redouble the effulgence of our rays of sunshine. So our members will forgive our continued importunity and subscribe at once.

placed the matter in the hands of the deputy minister, Mr. E. L. Newcombe, K.C., who will prepare a memorandum for speedy presentation to the cabinet on the subject. The fact that the Hindus are British subjects and not strictly "aliens" makes the question hard from a federal point of view. There is a prospect that the decision of the chief justice will be appealed, but the probabilities are against this at present. More than likely, however, according to the latest opinions voiced in circles where the machinery of legislation is best known, is the idea that another order in council may be passed with speed to come into line with the Dominion law and relieve the situation.

May Be Trouble.

Mr. Hugh Matier, a well-travelled and well-informed student of matters social, economic and international, is in Vancouver at present. He is interested in the Hindoo question very closely. Formerly secretary to Mr. John Hendry, Mr. Matier has been travelling widely of late and is now here studying the case of Bhagwan Singh, who was recently deported. Mr. Matier is in touch with the authorities in India over the Hindoo question here, opinion is that people in Canada do not realize how intense is the feeling in India over the Hindoo question here, and hints that it may give rise to serious Indian trouble unless amicably settled.

A further complication to the whole question is the attitude of organized labor, which is adverse in the extreme to the influx of the Hindoos. The leaders of organized labor in Toronto have expressed themselves forcibly. "If the immigration laws do not shut out the Hindoo," they say, "then the laws must be altered. The condition would not be tolerated in the United States, and English-speaking people on the Pacific coast must be protected." It is probable that there will be an appeal from labor to Ottawa to have the laws altered if they are inadequate.

STARVATION RESULTS IN CITY'S EVACUATION BY FEDERAL SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—How the American border patrol has found it well nigh impossible to enforce the embargo against the shipment of arms and ammunition into Mexico was described in a report from Brigadier-General Bliss, commanding the forces on the border, made public today at the war department. Practically the entire population along the international line, the report said, is in sympathy with the Mexican rebels, and as the result large quantities of war munitions have been smuggled across in spite of the unceasing vigilance of the troops.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—President

Huerta gave the people of the capital a thrill today by another of his periodical disappearances. For many hours no trace of him could be found, but he returned this afternoon to the national palace, saying he had been visiting a farm nearby.

Contradictory Reports.

Earlier in the day it was reported that the president had left the capital and was on his way to Vera Cruz. Railroad officials claimed to have knowledge of General Huerta's departure on a special train. This gave rise to all sorts of rumors, which merely caused the president to reiterate his determination to remain at the head of the administration and continue his efforts towards the pacification of the country.

Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, commanding the British cruisers in Mexican waters, spent most of the day at the British legation. He did not call on President Huerta, but said he expected to do so before he returned to Vera Cruz.

A resolution was introduced in the chamber of deputy today that the department of finance be instructed not to pay to congressmen any salary other than that due to them as congressmen. If the resolution is adopted it will save the country many hundreds of thousands of pesos annually.

COLD STORAGE BEEF AND FROZEN BODIES WASHED OUT TO SEA

Next morning the frightened inhabitants became frantic on discovering that their winter's supply of meat floated in the lagoon side by side with frozen bodies of persons who had died and been buried in the Nome graveyard.

Freeze in Grave.

Bodies in the North country freeze as soon as placed in their graves, and remain lifelike in their frozen state for nobody knows how long, so the horrible situation of the residents may be appreciated when Mr. Meigher says many saw their old friends floating face upward in the lagoon, some even side by side with their beef.

However, in spite of the horrible sight, the beef was salvaged even before efforts were made to take the bodies from the lagoon. The bodies, frozen when the great waves tore into the sanctity of their graves, soon thawed in the icy water, making a sight which the unfortunate of the camp will never forget. Mr. Meigher estimates there were forty or fifty bodies floating in the lagoon.

Welcome Relief Ship.

The meat was restored in the cold storage house, but a lot of it was washed out into Bering sea, and could not be recovered. However, a relief ship brought beef enough to bring the camp's supply up to the winter's requirements.

ELECTION METHODS ENTIRELY CORRUPT; SHOWN BY LETTERS

nomineé, is developing an unanticipated strength both in his canvass and his public addresses. His straightforward and manly espousal of Liberal principles, his unequivocal exposition of these and his unsullied personal character are evidencing the wisdom of the party in making him their choice as candidate in the constituency, while the fact that he is a local and long-time resident of the riding is telling tremendously in his favor among the electors of that district.

In his support, Mr. H. C. Brewster, leader of the Liberal party in British Columbia, is doing effective personal work as the exponent of what the new Liberalism in the province stands for. On the platform Mr. Brewster's criticisms of the administration of the Bowser-McBride government meet with the most appreciative reception. The calm, dispassioned and candid manner in which the Liberal leader exposes the unstatesmanlike legislation and the prodigality of the McBride administration is doing much to win votes, as it is the first time in the history of a political contest in the Islands riding that the facts have been so forcibly and undeniably brought home to the party guilty of such mal-administrative acts.

Fresh Speakers.

This week will see several fresh Liberal speakers on the hustings, and at the different centres the Liberal organizations are plying every ear to aid in bringing the party ship into port with all her passengers on board triumphant under the leadership of their candidate.

The amazing interest of the government in the election is a surprise to the electors of the Islands constituency. Never before has so much attention been paid by the government chiefs and aides to the rural electorate. From the knightly leader of the party down through the long list of cabinet ministers, machine managers and federal members, the meetings of the electors are hearing the platitudes that did such signal service six and more years ago in previous campaigns. Compliments are being paid to the farming communities that bring the blush of modesty to their weather-beaten cheeks, and, as always in election campaigns, nothing is too good for the government to promise the voters.

Still Hunt Conducted.

Nor are these temptations and inducements confined to the public addresses of the speakers and campaigners. The still hunt is being conducted in such a manner as may lead to reprisals unless the bold overtures are modified. The government candidate and speakers have been put on the defensive at every point, and not only in the addresses delivered at public meetings, but in the private canvass being made much of the time is taken up in making explanations of the many things hard to understand in the record of the government.

In the city of Victoria there are evidences of anxiety on the faces of the machine managers. That things are not going with the sweep on the Islands that was expected when the machine took charge of the campaign and foisted its candidate on the electors, refusing British play in the matter of their own choice of a resident candidate, is admitted by those in the know who are not too party hide-bound to confess the truth. The electorate in farming communities is of much more stable and reliable character than in urban constituencies and lacks in its make-up that uncertain element of floating population which a government with an illimitable campaign fund can influence
