Dear Sir,

Re: Mr. Karnail Singh Saroya.

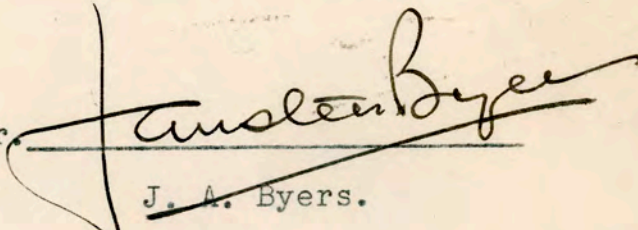

We received yesterday morning through the Capital Travel Service a cheque for $250.00 drawn by Mr. Dharam Singh and purporting to be in full settlement of your account in the above matter.

A few days ago Mr. Dharam Singh called in to see us and after repeating what he had already stated on a previous occasion, suggested that we should accept the sum of $200.00 in full payment of the account. At no stage of this case did we ever receive any instructions from Mr. Dharam Singh, and we are at a loss to understand why we are expected to negotiate with him in this matter at this stage. We have addressed you on several occasions, not only regarding the account, but also at various stages of the progress of the case, but you have not so far had the courtesy to acknowledge any of these letters.

Mr. Dharam Singh is so manifestly under a number of misapprehensions in this matter that we feel it would be far more satisfactory to discuss it with you personally; and probably there would be much less difficulty in bringing the matter to a satisfactory conclusion between us.

We are returning herewith Mr. Dharam Singh's cheque for $250.00 and we will be obliged by your returning it to him. We are sending it to you as we understand it reached the Capital Travel Service through your hands.

Yours truly,
MORBSEY, BYERS & MORESBY.
