Shah family roots firmly planted

The Shah family of Lake Cowichan are Pakistanis whose ancestors originally came from Afghanistan and later settled in Mardan or what was then known as the Northwest Frontier. Remat Shah who lives on Davis Lake Road in Lake Cowichan was born and raised in Mardan. His family were farmers there, growing just enough to make a living. At age 18 he travelled to Bombay where he obtained work as a supervisor of kitchen help in a robbery hotel. Following that he took a domestic job in the home of a wealthy Indian family. Unhappy with this life he moved back to the family farm in Mardan.

In 1947, the year India gained its independence from Britain, the year in which the Shah family was living because Pakistan, Burma and one are served in the new Indian embassy in Karachi, Pakistan.

Remat's older brother Ghafur Khan had taken work as a cargo ship when only 16 years old. He travelled the world many times visiting ports such as Germany, France, Glasgow, and New York. He had been a seaman for several years when the second world war broke out. His ship per (to Esquimalt) so he converted to a war ship. There was a six month lay over in Esquimalt when the crew received regular pay but were allowed to go ashore for walks. During this period Ghafur met Sir Robert Holland who was in government service in Victoria. Sir Holland took a liking to Ghafur and having an son of his own offered to sponsor him so that he and his wife could go back to the ship during war time.

After a while Ghafur moved to Alberta but feeling he had done something dishonest by leaving Sir Holland he returned to B.C., but convinced his benefactor he no longer needed his assistance and asked to be allowed to make his own way. He settled in the Lake Cowichan area where he worked 35 years in the mill at Yuquot.

In 1963 he sponsored the immigration of his younger brother

Remat arrived in Canada alone having a job in a sawmill in Golden B.C. In 1966 he brought his wife, six sons and three daughters to live with him there. They have lived in Canada for 18 years and five more sons were born there. Retiring from the sawmill, he moved his family to Lake Cowichan, at his near his oldest brother. With the help of his large family, he built a home where his younger children attended high school.

Following the death of his wife, his older brother Ghafur, along with one son and his wife took wife's remains back to Pakistan for burial, leaving two sons in Lake Cowichan. He had only been back in Pakistan 1½ years when he died. He was very unhappy there and missed his beloved Canada having lived here for 48 years.

In his halting English Remat told how much he loves Canada. He likes the people and is so happy here he wants to stay here always. He and his lovely wife now have 23 grandchildren. Three of his sons married Canadian girls who converted to the families Moslem faith.

One son Bob, explained a little of the Moslem faith and culture. Everybody is a holy day to the Moslems who pray five times a day. Their Holy book, the Koran, was written by the prophet Muhammad. They believe most of what Christians in the Christian Bible which they call the legend but do not believe Jesus was the son of God. They believe he was a prophet. They believe there were three prophets incl. Muhammad, Abraham, Moses and David are also believed in the story of Adam and Eve.

Moslems take no alcohol and eat no pork. One of their more important Holy times is called Ramazan when they fast from 5 a.m. - 9 p.m. Every day for 30 days. Then comes the celebration of Eid where family and friends gather for a feast, eating lamb, chicken, turkey, goat or beef.

Another son Ayub, along with a sister, owns and operates the Ocean Restaurant opposite the Donut Shop on the Trans Canada Hwy.
